SENGWENI CATERING SERVICES

The director is a very traditional and cultural person – also is the company's soul , so she told me to play around with different objects and look at some of her sculptures for inspiration. After discussing the business strategy I finally chose to use just four objects and a delightful font-face to create this classy looking identity for her catering company. The request to use the gold color on the logo was challenging, especially when the logo was placed on a white background. So my suggestion was to have different versions of the logo to serve different backgrounds.
