why? INFOGRAPHICS

Basically business cards are a very simple way of networking finding people interested in your brand or product. Business cards must always reflect to the company's face, which is a logo or a picture of the individual (owner of the company). TDS Graphics offers all types of professional business cards, from full color print-double sided to costume designing and each client can order as much as they want.

Billboards, Posters, flyers, banners and brochures are also a very simple way of delivering information to the public and targeted customers . As a designer I have to create harmonious displays that convey information, attract viewers, and very effectively beautiful.

ASANDE FOOTBALL CLUB

The director is a very traditional and cultural person – also is the company's soul , so she told me to play around with different objects and look at some of her sculptures for inspiration. After discussing the business strategy I finally chose to use just four objects and a delightful font-face to create this classy looking identity for her catering company. The request to use the gold color on the logo was challenging, especially when the logo was placed on a white background. So my suggestion was to have different versions of the logo to serve different backgrounds.

MNYANDU RES. AND CAFÉ®

After three days of sketching, researching and designing, the company director made his final decision and thought the name itself was good to go. As its already sends a clear message to the viewer so the only thing we need is just the colors that represents the company. Blue, white, gold and a readable font-face was combination perfect to create the face and the cornerstone f the company.

MLAMULA ART AND TRADITIONAL GROUP

When the group of young talented artists asked me to design a logo that represents them well as a 'traditional group', the only thing that they had in mind was a bow and spear. Since that represents the Zulu Kingdom form way back. There was I, drawing in Adobe Illustrator for several hours. When I asked my director which colors should I use? He told to look at the soil and I will never go wrong. So I had to make an artistic look without loosing focus on what was required from me.

EDENDALE STORIES

Focusing on educating , empowering and supporting the community talent – TDS Graphics and APEX Sound Design And Film Works worked together in Edendale Stories project for months. From planning to creating 2 weeks auditions to marketing our short films. As I as creating websites and info graphics for the whole team I got an opportunity to work among a lot of different artists with different skills, very extremely talented people.

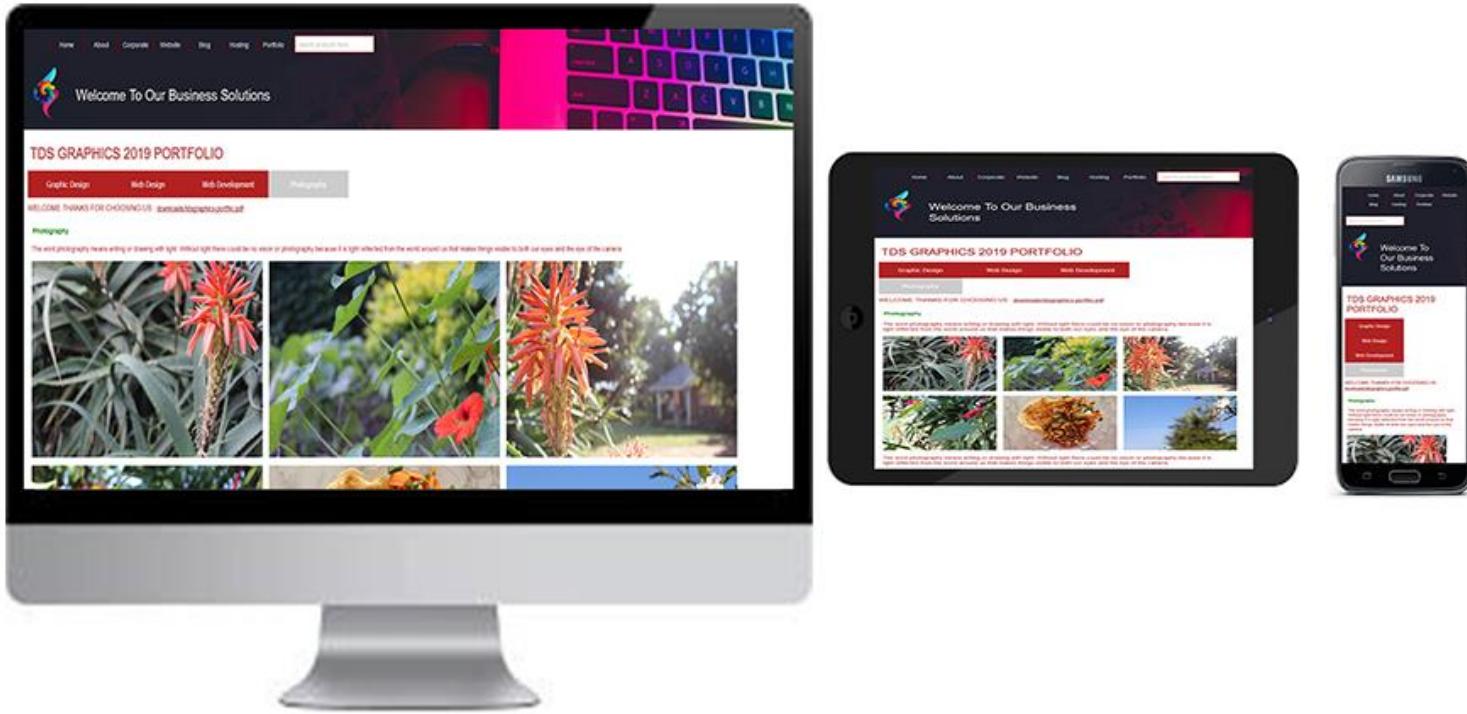

This is web application I created from scratch for broadcasting short films online, email handling, video reacting and downloading, updates on various community projects and event posters.
